Huge Tire Floats 82-Ton Bomber

Mounting of the huge tire and wheel assemblies marks the final step in completion of the world's largest bomber, the Douglas B-19, according to Ryan Daggett, manager of the Torrance Tirestone Auto Supply and Service store. The tires were made by Firestone as the largest airplane tires ever built; they stand higher than the overall height of light training planes seen on every airport. Although the plane is built with a tricycle landing gear, each of the giant tires is built to carry half of the plane's total weight of 82 tons. Standing eight feet high, the tires weigh 961 pounds, contains 148 miles of cotton cord and three miles of steel piano wire in the tire beads.

Making It Easier On Motorists

Pontiac and Fisher Body engineers made great improvement this year in adjustable sun visors, according to H. J. Langworthy of Torrance Motors, local Pontiac dealers at Gramercy and Cabrillo ayes. Note that the sun visors in addition to turning up and down also slide toward the center or the side so that the sun can be shut out regardless of the angle of its rays. And then the visors can be swung around to the door side to keep the sun from shining in the side. The motorist in the picture is tightening the locking nut after sliding the visor to the center.
